3 Mistakes to Avoid Losing Your Kids to CPS

The Atlantic Magazine reports that in 2012, more than 6,300,000 children were referred to Child Protective Services as possible victims of neglect or abuse. In 2014 celebrities Will Smith and Jada Pinkett had their parenting skills scrutinized by CPS in a famous case spurred on by the black & white photo (below) of their 13 year-old daughter in bed with former Hannah Montana star, 20-year-old Moises Arias.

According to Vince Davis, author of How To Fight Child Protective Services and Win, "There are 3 huge mistakes to avoid if you have to fight to keep your kids from being taken away by CPS."

- 1) Not taking the allegations against you seriously
- 2) Talking to the social worker without counsel present
- 3) Agreeing to attend "Team Decisionmaking Meetings" (TDMs)
